Introducing the dynamic and genre-defying musician, Matt Steady, hailing from Leicester, England. While Matt's live performances showcase his identification with blues and folk, his recorded works delve into a rich tapestry of musical genres, including epic instrumental prog, often with a Celtic flair.

Originally classically trained in piano, violin, and musical theory, Matt Steady's journey took a turn when his frustration with the rigid "notes on the page" philosophy led him to pick up a guitar. Emulating blues legends by ear, he transitioned from performing "extra-ordinary covers" to crafting genuine and honest, non-trivial lyrics borne from a wealth of life experiences.

Matt's appearance mirrors the grizzled charm of his musical style and tone. His voice, rugged and raspy, stands in stark contrast to the fragile lyrics and delicate instrumental arrangements that define his sound. From blistering electric blues to agonizing acoustic singer-songwriter tracks, and from beautiful and expansive Celtic landscapes to majestic virtuoso guitar instrumentals, Matt Steady seamlessly navigates a diverse musical terrain.

Each track in Steady's repertoire is a unique sonic journey, showcasing different styles that seamlessly flow from one medium to another with a sense of shape and purpose. Embrace the evolution of Matt Steady's compositions, where the boundaries between genres blur, and the music makes you FEEL.
